

Abstract of the Disclosure

A customized book includes fixed text and fixed illustrations combined with at least some customized text and at one customized illustration. Fixed text and fixed illustrations are selected. Customized text is generated using input customizing data 5 and customized illustration is generated using input customizing image data.

Composite text is generated by integrating customized text with fixed text. Composite text is combined with fixed illustrations and customized illustration, optionally integrated into composite illustrations, to form a customized book. The customized book is output and optionally combined with a customized cover.